PLACERVILLE, EL DORADO COUNTY, CALIFORNIA, WEDNESDAY, MARCH 20, 1940

HERN IS NAMED BART MANAGER

Baseball Directors Put Control On Purchase Of Supplies For Club

Sam Hern, manager of the Placerville office of the Inter-County Title Company and widely known to county softball fans for his work as umpire in the softball league last season, is the manager of the El Dorado County Bartlets in the Placer-Nevada baseball league for the 1940 season.

Hern's appointment was announced by Dr. Richard G. Hosking, president of the Bartlets, following a business meeting of the club directors, held Wednesday noon at Hotel Raffles.

One other important business item came up at the meeting and that was an announcement of policy by the directors relative to the purchase of supplies or equipment by the club.

"No purchases will be approved by the board of directors," it was announced, "unless made on the written order of the manager countersigned by the club secretary or the club president."

Wallace M. Ripley is secretary of the club.

The directors completed arrangements for the purchase of sixteen suits for the club. The purchase is to be executed Thursday. The suits will be blue, trimmed in white. Across the front of the shirts will be the legend, "Placerville" and on the left sleeve of each suit will be a Bartlett pear.

Other doings of the directors included details relative to the issuance of season tickets, the appointment of Matt Murray as principal gate-keeper, a call for offers to supply the public address system for the games and the approval of plans for complimentary score cards to home-town fans at the games.

Georgetown Boys Want Scouting

Patrol To Be Formed As Part Of Troop 67, With C. Kemp Van Ee In Charge

Answering the requests of approximately a dozen boys in Georgetown and vicinity for the establishment of Boy Scout activities in their community, District Chairman W. T. Henderson, of Diamond Springs, and a committee of assistants, visited the north side community Tuesday night.

As a result of their conference with a group of Georgetown residents it was agreed that Georgetown shall have a Boy Scout patrol which will be operated as a part of Troop 67, the American Legion-sponsored troop, in Placerville.

This troop is under the leadership of Perry Baker as Scoutmaster, and the Georgetown patrol will be under the leadership of Clarence Kemp Van Ee, as assistant Scoutmaster.

The preliminary meeting was held at the schoolhouse and during the course of discussion, the district officers took occasion to spike rumors of extravagant costs in connection with participation in Scouting and assured the interested Georgetown people that the details of the matter of costs could be explained fully after the patrol has actually been constituted.

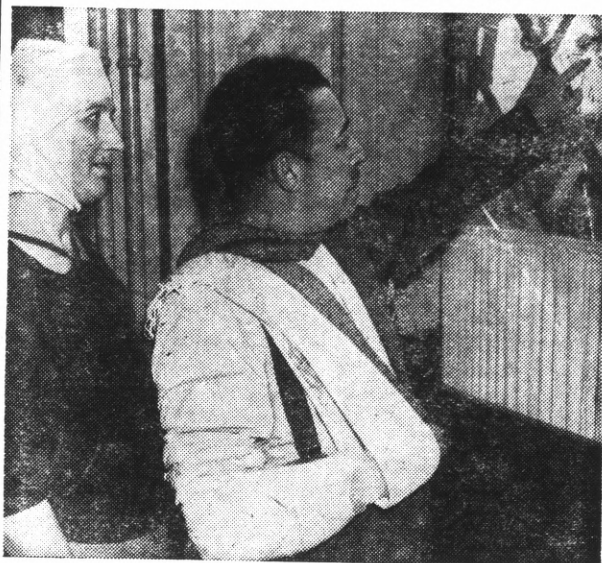

The next step is to proceed with the preliminary organization of the Georgetown patrol and have the boys qualify for the Tenderfoot class in Scouting following which a public investiture ceremony will be held.

Those who attended the preliminary meeting Tuesday night included Bill Howell, council field executive, of Sacramento; W. T. Henderson, district chairman, of Diamond Springs; E. W. Zueger, district commissioner; and Perry Baker, Scoutmaster of Troop 67; and James P. Morton, Mance H. Vaught and Sam Hern, of the sponsoring committee for Troop 67.

WINTER SPORTS SPONSORSHIP SOUGHT BY STATE C. OF C.

Some Form Of Subsidizing Recreational Development In Snow Areas Is Believed Desirable In Public Interest

The recreation committee of the Sacramento Valley Council of the state Chamber of Commerce has named a sub-committee which is making a preliminary study of organized ski clubs in the northern part of the state in behalf of some form of subsidizing the development of public play areas in the snow country.

Arnold N. Weber, of Placerville, for several years prominent in the organized ski sport in the state and at present a director of the National Ski Association, is the committee chairman. Wallace M. Ripley, secretary of the El Dorado County Chamber of Commerce, is the committee secretary, and the third member is William Durham, of Auburn.

The background for the committee's work is set forth in the following statement by the committee:

"At a meeting of the State Chamber of Commerce in Sacramento on January 19, 1940, a resolution was passed appointing a committee to investigate the possibility of obtaining financial aid for the ski clubs from business directly benefiting from this sport. The thought was brought out in committee meeting that the ski clubs, organized and financed by the salaried and wage earning class, had about reached the end of their financial ability in providing the facilities necessary to take care of the ski sportsman."

"Any further developments were either coming through government aid or private enterprise. The first must be dismissed from the picture since recreation funds are high to impossible to obtain by either the Forest and Park Services. Private enterprise will develop ski grounds but this development will take care of only a restricted number who have the ability to pay the rates."

"DERBY" ENTRY BLANKS ARRIVE

El Dorado County Boys May Participate In National Championship

The greatest amateur racing event in the world!

The 1940 All-American Soap Box Derby!

National and international finals to be held at Akron, Ohio, August 11, 1940.

These and many other headlines will soon be appearing in America's leading newspapers and boys of this county as well as throughout the entire Mother Lode Section are given the opportunity to participate.

The Soap Box Derby is strictly a boys' event, designed to promote both craftsmanship and sportsmanship, through competition in building and driving "Soap Box" racing cars.

The Soap Box Derby is open only to boys 11 to 15 years, inclusive. Entrants must design and build their own cars, but may have other boys of derby contest age as helpers.

Entry blanks and official rule books are now available at the local Chevrolet dealer, Cannon Chevrolet Company.

The Placerville Republican and The Mountain Democrat, together with Chevrolet Motor Division and the local Chevrolet dealer are co-sponsors of the event in this county and are extending an invitation to civic and fraternal organizations, parents and all interested citizens to assist in making it one of the outstanding community juvenile events.

The American Legion has appointed a committee to assist and the Placerville Lions' Club and the El Dorado County Chamber of Commerce are being asked for assistance.

Boys will be given an opportunity to race in competition in this county at a time and place to be set later, probably a date in June or July. Mother Lode finals will follow the various local events almost immediately and the winner goes to Akron, Ohio, to participate in the International and National races, August 11.

In addition to this, another opportunity will be given boys of this county as well as all contestants of the Mother Lode, to get into the Akron finals by participating and winning in the finals sponsored by San Francisco newspapers at Treasure Island, during the Summer season.

GEORGETOWN WOOD YARD SAVED FROM FLAMES TUESDAY NIGHT

Fire of undetermined origin destroyed one wood storage shed and an estimated fifteen tier of wood at the R. J. Nelson residence in Georgetown at a late hour Tuesday night. Mr. Nelson is in the wood business and had a large amount of wood stored at his home.

Despite the presence of adjoining frame structures and other stored wood nearby, the Georgetown Volunteer Fire Department was able to halt the spread of the fire and, after a fight of approximately two hours, gained complete control, although a watch was kept over the property for several hours.

Firemen report being hampered in their work by a sheet-iron roof on the burned structure which collapsed over the burning wood and increased the difficulty of fire-fighting.

Fire Chief Clarence Collins said he had visited the scene of the blaze Wednesday morning, but that he had not conferred with Mr. Nelson to learn the exact amount of wood damaged, nor the estimated total loss in the fire.

BRITAIN WARNS NEUTRALS

British Bombing Fleet Of Fifty Planes Raids German Naval Base

By JOE ALEX MORRIS
U. P. Foreign News Editor

Great Britain sought to wrest the diplomatic and military offensive from Germany today by the most severe aerial bombardment of the war and by sharp warnings to neutrals—including the United States—that the Allies are in a life-and-death struggle.

Along with a political crisis in France due to resignation of the Daladier government, developments included:

1. Announcement in the House of Commons by First Lord of the Admiralty Winston Churchill that the raid by perhaps 50 British bombers on the German air base at Sylt during the night was merely the beginning of raids and counter-raids.

2. A statement by British War Secretary Oliver Stanley that fore-shadowed a sterner British attitude toward neutrals and by inference reproached the United States, by declaring that no nation can "by timidity or selfishness" remain indifferent to the war in Europe.

Britain can learn a "very dangerous lesson" from neutral criticism of the Allied failure to override all objections and intervene in the war in Finland, Stanley said. Yesterday, Prime Minister Neville Chamberlain had warned that British warships and planes would enter Scandinavian waters to attack any German warships there.

3. The resignation of the cabinet of Premier Edouard Daladier in Paris, in an effort to form a new ministry that would meet public and parliamentary demands for more vigorous prosecution of the war. Daladier was asked to head the new government.

New Bakery To Open Monday

Health Bread Featured; Business Fifth To Be Opened In Recent Months

Monday, March 25, is announced as the opening date for the Honey Bread Bakery, the fifth new business to be established in Placerville in the last four months.

The new bakery is owned and operated by H. S. Talcott and R. J. Grose, and is located at 466 Main Street, in a portion of the Van Der Avera building.

The manufacturing plant of the new business is fully electrically equipped, according to Mr. Talcott, featuring one of the latest types of automatically controlled electric ovens.

Although health bread will be a feature of the new bakery, all kinds of regular bakery products are also to be made for sale. In addition to bakery products, juices from fresh vegetables are to be extracted by electric power juicers and sold fresh to order.

Mr. Grose has lived here in this county for about six months living on a small ranch in the Cold Springs section. A chef and dietitian of many years' experience, he has served with health food stores in San Francisco, and for the past few years as chef of the Loma Linda Food factory at Loma Linda. He will have charge of the baking.

Mr. and Mrs. Talcott have been residents of the county for the past four years, recently disposing of a ranch in the Negro Hill district and are now building a new home in the Cold Springs section on the Joe Skinner ranch. This couple will have charge of the sales end of the new business and in addition Mrs. Talcott will operate a similar business in a small stand for a few months on Main Street near the entrance to the El Dorado Theatre.

Caroline Jay and Garret Cassidy love each other but, because Garret is a shiftless poolroom loafer, Caroline's mother has forbidden her to see him. Mrs. Jay, superintendent of the Avon Home for the Aged wants Caroline to encourage Henry Avon, whose wealthy mother is head of the Home's board of directors. One afternoon telling her mother she is going shopping, Caroline meets Garret secretly and they are married. On the way back to town they strike and kill an old man. Pop Whistler, who has just run away from the Home. They leave him lying by the roadside. Meanwhile, Mrs. Avon phones Mrs. Jay inviting Caroline to her country home for a week. Mrs. Jay buries the old man and goes to Caroline, to equip her for her visit to the home of Henry Avon.

CHAPTER XV

WHEN Martha Jay came home, her arms piled high with bundles, she went directly to her apartment.

"Caroline," she called "Come here, darling—I have so many things to show you."

There was no answer. Impatiently, Mrs. Jay rang the service bell in her room.

Mrs. Greene soon appeared at the door. "Good evening," she said. "May I help you?"

"Has Caroline come in yet?" "I haven't seen her."

Mrs. Jay's thoughts turned reluctantly to Avon Home. "How is Miss Pfenniger?" she asked.

"She seems to be much better," Mrs. Greene said.

Mrs. Jay nodded. "Splendid. And Mr. Whistler? Did he give you any trouble?"

The nurse's glossy lips still sticky from the last chocolate cream she had eaten said "He didn't give me any trouble at all. Miss Evans was terribly upset when she went by his door and found he had been smoking."

Mrs. Jay said, "I'll go up and talk to him."

Mrs. Greene looked at her and tried to make light of the difficulty. "Don't take him too seriously," she begged. "He's just another old man—a bit odd a little hard to handle."

"Yes I know," Mrs. Jay said. "I'll go upstairs and talk to him. Perhaps I can reason with him. I don't want to send him away because I know he loves it here at Avon Home."

Mrs. Greene beamed. "You can make anything all right," she said and her smile completed the compliment.

MRS JAY'S mind was on Caroline however not on Pop Whistler.

Before she went upstairs, she walked to the doorway of the Home and waited for the arrival of the next street car. Surely Caroline would be coming home soon.

When the trolley pulled around the loop, she went outside ready to wave a greeting to the girl. But there was no sign of Caroline as the car door opened to let out its few passengers.

Mrs. Jay turned back into the Home disappointed. She would make the rounds while waiting for the next car to arrive—check on Miss Pfenniger and Pop Whistler.

She found Miss Pfenniger in a light sleep, then went directly to the east wing where Pop Whistler's room was located.

She tapped lightly at the door. "Mr. Whistler," she said "this is Mrs. Jay. I want to talk to you."

There was no answer.

Mrs. Jay continued. "Perhaps I spoke nastily to you this noon in the dining room. Let me come in now and we will see what is best to do."

There was still no answer. Mrs. Jay fumbled through her ring of keys, found the right one, then opened Pop Whistler's door.

"WHERE are you?" she called out as she saw the empty room.

She believed he was playing a game with her—keeping silent and out of sight just to harass her. "Mr. Whistler?" she called again. "Come here I want to speak to you."

She searched the room—opened the closet door looked behind chairs peered under the bed.

There was no sign of Pop Whistler. His room reeked with the odor of tobacco. She looked for signs of his pipe. Somewhere the room was strangely tomb-like.

When she had looked everywhere, Mrs. Jay had owned he had locked securely in his bureau drawers.

If he was not in his room—where had he gone?

The screenless window at the edge of the porch gave the answer. Pop Whistler had apparently stepped over the window ledge to the porch roof and slid down the drain pipe to the ground.

He had risked his life to prove to her that he would rather be dead than go to the psychopathic hospital at Peterstown.

MRS JAY went to the window and with her eyes followed the course Pop Whistler must have taken to escape. "You must have been desperate," she told herself over and over.

Besides, Pop might try to steal in later at night, perhaps coming through the hallway passage. She must be watching for him, tell him how great the anxiety he had caused.

Mrs. Jay turned the key in his door from the outside. To make sure he did not steal back as he had stolen out, she had bolted the screen on his window too.

Once downstairs she rang the service bell for Mrs. Greene again. "I have Mr. Whistler's room locked," she told her. "He slipped out and if he tries to sneak in, I want to know."

Mrs. Greene nodded. "I'll be watching for him," she said.

But Mrs. Jay's thoughts had already leaped again to Caroline. She heard the grinding wheels of another street car making the loop. Surely this car would bring Caroline back from her shopping trip.

Sports Parade

By HENRY McLEMORE

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (U)—The League of Women Baseball Sufferers, composed of wives of major league players, has come up with one of the most promising rookies in years in the person of Dorothy DiMaggio, bride of the Yankee slugger center fielder.

Although making her first trip to a spring training camp, Mrs. DiMaggio has shown enough talent as a sufferer when the Yankees are playing to earn her high praise from such veteran squirmers, nail chewers, lip biters, and permanent wave disarrangers as Vi Dickey, Izzy Rolfe, June Gomez and Pauline Ruffing.

Mrs. DiMaggio was put to her first real test at the all star game between the American and National Leagues and her behavior when her husband was at bat or chasing a fly, and the American League was behind, stamped her as ready to step into the big league of sufferers in her first year up. This correspondent saw Mrs. DiMaggio before she went to the all-star game and after she had returned. On her departure for the park she could have passed muster before the most exacting couturier in the world, and her make-up and coiffure were impeccable.

When I saw her again, after she had been through the torment of seeing husband Joe fail to get a hit, and the Nationals lick the Americans, she could have used the complete $5 treatment in a beauty parlor. And this, mind you, despite the fact that naturally she is just about the prettiest wife in baseball.

Two hours in the torture chamber reserved for the players' wives had all but made a wreck of her.

She didn't deny that her experience had been harrowing, either.

"It's terrible," she said wearily—"that sitting there and watching your man at the plate. You hope and you pray he'll get a hit. You find yourself hating the umpire when he calls a strike, and the pitcher for throwing it. I don't think I could stand it if Joe weren't a good hitter and I didn't have the comfort of knowing he usually gets his share of the hits and runs."

Mrs. DiMaggio's ability to suffer so intently probably lies in the fact that she was once a baseball player herself, and thus knows the problems and hardships of hitting, high fast ones, curves that break like a pane of glass, and tantalizing changes of pace and the such. Yes, Mrs. DiMaggio was a better than fair first baseman in her day. She never quite made the majors but there was a time not so many years ago when she was the best girl soft baller in Duluth, Minnesota.

"I was a pretty good hitter," she admitted under questioning. "I was always around 300 and got a few home runs. No, I wasn't as good a hitter as Joe, and I couldn't field quite as well as he does, but then he has had more experience."

Up until the time she met Joe, late in the 1937 season, she had never seen a major league baseball game. But it didn't take her long to correct that mistake. She met Joe on August 4 and on August 5 was in the stands to see him break up a game with an extra base hit.

Since that time she hasn't missed a Yankee game when she was in New York, and she doesn't intend to miss any more.

"It's terrible suffering," she said, "but it's fun. And, too, I've got to get in training for my first world

"RING AROUND THE ROSIE"

Believe it or not, the South won one match in the long feud that raged for a month or so. The only rightful hero is J. C. Wilson, who dumped a long string of pars and a birdie now and then at Bob Roberts, the king pin of the club, to win by 4 and 3.

Pete Peterson, of the North crawled out of hibernation to trim Seth Beach's ears back a bit.

So the sad story is North, 14 points; South, 3.

Many defaults marred the otherwise perfect day, and the reason is just a big mark.

J. C. Wilson, South defeated Bob Roberts, North, 4 and 3; Pete Peterson, North, defeated Seth Beach, South, a couple;

Joe Hearn, North, Bernie Edelman, South, no show;

Al Bemis, North, defeated Bron Smith, South;

Ed Reeder, North, defeated J. H. Wilson, South;

K. W. McCoy, North, Louie Neil, South—fishing;

Max Davey, North, defeated John Peterson, South;

Phil Reeg, North vs Dr. L. B. Rantz, no contest;

M. E. Wright, North, Loren Atwood, South—St. Patrick's Day.

M. T. Kelly, North, defeated A. W. Wilson, South—a good left hander better than a small right hander.

Watch the papers for the finest event of the year put on by the 20-30 boys.

Can a skier hook and slice? series this fall. That will make me worry and fret."

This remark made it obvious that Mrs. DiMaggio hadn't seen the Yankees in a world series. They don't give their backers much to worry about. Just four straight and in a hurry.

For the life of us we can't feel sorry for Mrs. DiMag and her suffering. If she is tortured when Joe comes to bat, just think of what the wives of those 230 hitters go through.

WHAT IS YOUR Savings GOAL?

ARE YOU Saving FOR THE DOWN PAYMENT ON A HOME?

During recent years, home ownership has been made easier to achieve than ever before. Liberal bank credit, or financing arranged under FHA, enables you to buy or build your own home with as little as 20% or even 10% of your own money as a down payment. The down payment on a home is a worthy goal for any saver—a goal which systematic savings will enable you to reach in a relatively short time, depending upon your salary or income and the cost of the home which you plan to build.

Bank of America, the national leader in FHA home financing, has helped more than 28,000 individuals to buy or build through convenient FHA loans. Saving for the down payment on a home is just one of the subjects discussed in the booklet, "Your Savings Goal and How to Reach It," which you may obtain at any branch of Bank of America.

Stewart Says—

G. O. P. Acquiesces, At Least in Part, With Hull Policy

By CHARLES P. STEWART

Central Press Columnist

AN ESPECIALLY interesting detail of the Republican program committee's statement of principles, with a view to the coming national campaign, is to be found in the organization's partial acquiescence in State Secretary Hull's reciprocal trade policy, which he's been developing since early in the Roosevelt regime.

Secretary Hull, if not an out-and-out free trader, at least is a very low tariff advocate. My own impression is that his reciprocal treaties aim at the ultimate abolition of custom houses, or tariffs for revenue only. Evidently, however, the state departmental head thinks this would be an overdose, all at once, for a country so habituated to the protective philosophy as ours is, and is trying to accomplish his end, through his reciprocal bargains, by degrees.

That is to say, if some other nation will lower its tariffs in our favor, we'll correspondingly lower ours in favor of the other chaps. For instance, Brazil produces a lot of tropical stuff that we need, being entirely untropical ourselves, whereas Brazil needs plenty of our manufactured goods, being mainly a non-industrial realm. So Secretary Hull proposes a big reduction in our tariffs on tropical raw material in return for a Brazilian reduction on our processed junk.

He has concluded 20-odd of these compacts with other governments, and reliable calculations show that they've been mutually very beneficial. A few narrow interests' spokesmen deny it, but the figures generally are accepted, as indicated by the Republican program committee's report—that committee being one which wouldn't be likely to speak well of the Hull plan if it didn't sincerely THINK well of it, in moderation.

The Queen Elizabeth Makes it a Threesome

Aided by a fleet of tugs, the Queen Elizabeth, world's largest ship, is warped into her berth beside the Normandie (right) No. 2 ship, and the Queen Mary (center) No. 3 ship. Thus, we have the world's three largest ships, refugees of the war, within a space of four blocks along the New York waterfront.

Unique Demonstration Drive Spear-Heads Spring Sales Program

Spearheaded by a unique direct-comparison demonstration drive, one of the most aggressive nationwide spring merchandising programs ever undertaken by the Hudson Motor Car Company began today, according to an announcement by James E. Summerfield, Jr., Hudson dealer for El Dorado County.

"Hudson plans to demonstrate to a million customers during the spring months," Summerfield said in describing the sales program.

"These demonstrations are unusual in that they will enable the prospective buyer to make a direct 30-minute comparison of Hudson to his own car, or any other, over a familiar, daily traveled route.

"We are all set here with this unusual and dramatic demonstration, and it is our intention that Placerville will provide its quota." Monday Mr. Summerfield received a gold pin from the Pacific Coast division of the Hudson Motor Car Company, in San Francisco, complimenting and designating him as one of the outstanding dealers in the Hudson sales organization, because he has exceeded his quota in number of 1940 models delivered.

This recognition entitles Mr. Summerfield to become a member of the Triangle Club, of the Hudson Motor Car Company's sales organization.
